CIVIL SERVICE.

From a report of proceedings in the House on the 11th inst., we take the following:

Garfield moved to amend by inserting an item appropriating $7,000 to reimburse Gen. O. O. Howard for expenses in defense in the [illegible] trial for malfeasance in office.

Speer raised the point of order that there is no law for such appropriation, and the matter was [illegible] passed over, in order to allow Garfield to find the law under which the item would be in order.

Kellogg offered the item appropriating $25,000 to enable the President to carry out the civil service rules.

Lawrence asked Kellogg to accept an amendment making it the duty of the Civil Service [illegible] to report to the President a plan for reorganizing all the civil departments of Government, so as to equalize all salaries and as far as practicable reduce expenses and increase the efficiency thereof.

Kellogg declined.

Butler (Massachusetts) attacked the civil service reform, which he denied was the recommendation of the President. It was a scheme of a cabal, composed of Trumbull, Schurz and others, for the purpose of breaking down Grant in the presidential campaign of 1872. It was passed through Congress by the votes of demagogues who were afraid to vote against it. It was a trick of an apostate politician, who was killed by his vote on the impeachment, and sought by it to galvanize himself into life again, but failed.

Cox declared the civil service reform a failure. True reform was honesty and capacity.

Beck coincided with Cox.

Willard (Vermont) quoted the civil service reform plank in the Philadelphia platform, and appealed to Republicans to stand up to it.

Marshall had originally voted for the civil service reform, but could no longer vote to sustain such a miserable sham and fraud. Since its establishment the greatest frauds had been perpetrated and every branch of the civil service is reeking with corruption.

This is the speech of the Czar at the Mansion House banquet, London: "My Lord Mayor, your royal highness, my lords, ladies and gentlemen—I have to thank you, my Lord Mayor, for the very kind way in which you have proposed my health, and the company for the way in which they have received it. It has given me great pleasure to come into the city to-day [cheers] and before I sit down I propose to you the health of the right honorable the Lord Mayor."

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18.—While on the way up from southern ports, and when near Monterey, the steamer Senator struck some object, supposed to be a piece of a floating wreck, which took out two or three of her paddle-boxes and started her stern-post. The steamer leaked, but not sufficiently to injure her cargo. She will probably go into the dry dock this evening for repairs.

The trial of Marks and son was resumed to-day in the Municipal Court. The testimony for the people will probably close to-day. The impression prevails that the jury will either disagree or acquit the prisoners.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18.—There was to have been a meeting of liquor license men to-night at the 15th District Court-room, but the hall was found to be too small to accommodate those who came, and the meeting adjourned till Monday night for the purpose of procuring a larger hall.

A solitary female crusader entered the saloon of Oscar Lewis, at the Lick House, to-night, and inaugurated a prayer. A great crowd collected. She was invited to go away, and finally left.

A fire on Anthony street to-night burned a tenement house. Damage, about $500.

The ladies' fair at Platt's Hall to aid the fund for the Louisiana sufferers was well attended.

Interior California.

VALLEJO, June 18.—A. P. Ryerson, a California Pioneer, and resident of Solano county upwards of 20 years, suicided last night on his ranch, half way between Vallejo and Benicia, by taking an overdose of laudanum. He is highly respected, and has many years been one of the leading men of Solano county. He leaves a wife and ten children. No reason is known for the rash act.

GRASS VALLEY, June 18.—John Miners, who was caved upon Tuesday afternoon at Jenny Lind diggings, has not yet been recovered. Men have been constantly at work trying to reach him, but so far have failed. This morning six skilled miners from the Idaho mine were detailed to prosecute the search and have been working all day. Nothing has been heard from him since some time yesterday afternoon, and it is now supposed he is dead. A great number of persons have visited the scene of the accident. Miners is said to be worth $100,000.

LOS ANGELES, June 18.—Capt. Clarke, with Mr. Higbie, Dr. Hayes and several others, making up a surveying party, have returned to this city from a trip to the El Paso mining district. The object of the expedition was to survey some old silver mining claims which were worked a number of years ago and abandoned on account of the Indians becoming troublesome. Two ledges were surveyed—one, the Manzanillo, and the other the northeastern extension of the Ophir mine in 1865. Men working these claims under the ownership of Yarborough Gold and Silver Mining Company, were driven off by Indians and the Superintendent of the works killed. About $34,000 had been expended by the Company on the mines, and forty-two tons of ore were left in dumps when abandoned. The miners were so closely pressed by the Indians that they could not make their way out of the country by way of Los Angeles, but fled to Visalia. El Paso region lies south of Cerro Gordo and on the proposed line of the Los Angeles and Independence Railroad. With increased facilities for working and excellent indications there is little doubt but there is untold wealth in El Paso mines. Capt. Clark has been instructed by the Company, of which he is a member, to let the contracts at once for working claims and operations will doubtless be commenced upon them before long.

The veterans of the Mexican war will parade in this city on the 4th of July.

Chavis, Lieutenant of Vasquez's, was seen near San Fernando yesterday. He was in company with another Mexican leading a pack-horse. They asked the party for bread, which was given them, and they went on. The party recognized Chavis, but we do not understand that any effort was made to capture him. The general impression is that Chavis and one or two of his companions are now hiding in the hills about San Fernando City.

The Council to-day decided to submit the proposition to establish a city library to a vote of the people at the next general election.

TURLOCK, Cal., June 18.—Two men, Sam Dorn and Pete St. Mary, had an altercation in this place to-day, in which Dorn was shot in the breast—dangerously wounded. Three shots were fired, one by Dorn and two by St. Mary. Dorn was drunk at the time. St. Mary was arrested by the Sheriff and placed in jail.

NEVADA.

TRANO, June 18.—The Railroad Hotel in this place was entirely destroyed by fire about 11 o'clock last night. The fire is supposed to have originated from fire crackers in the Chinese sleeping room adjoining it, as it was a holiday among them. The freight house, only thirty feet distant, and the balance of the town was saved by almost superhuman efforts, together with a favorable wind blowing at the time.

ELKO, June 18.—Charles E. DeLong, ex-Minister to Japan, has been in town the past two days canvassing for the next Senatorial election.

The smallpox has entirely disappeared. The sanitary committee have fumigated all houses where the disease prevailed, and there is no danger whatever of contracting the disease.

EUREKA, Nev., June 18.—A miner, named John Hatton, was almost instantly killed this evening at the Eureka Consolidated mine, by a mass of rock and dirt caving in on him while at work. The deceased was about 40 years of age, a native of Ireland, and died shortly after being brought out from the mine.

A WORD IN DEFENSE OF THE CRUSADERS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Generally I have followed this maxim—not to do anything of which I doubted the propriety or expediency. Yet I feel a little fluttering of doubt about attempting any explanations in defense of that valliant little band of Portland women usually denominated "the Crusaders." Not a doubt of the propriety of saying or doing anything in their defense, but a fear of the expediency makes me tremble, because of the cunning of their enemies in turning everything, even the efforts of their friends against them; and I hope I am a friend of theirs—certainly I should feel it an honor to be allowed to kiss their hands.

Concerning the malevolent attacks of the Bulletin, as attacks I have little to say. The fact that the Republican party was beaten accounts for much of the Bulletin's rancor. I only wish to say, on my own judgment strictly, and from what I know of the late election matters, that the Crusaders and the temperance ladies generally are entirely innocent of that defeat. I know, because they so told me, and because the matter came up one evening in an open meeting, that the ladies all wished for a straight-out Temperance ticket, on which a strictly Temperance party could be founded; and were willing to run the risk of defeat in an open fight for their principles. They wished the same at the State election; but as men still insist upon regarding women as minors, their wishes had no weight with the Nominating Committees at either election. During the whole interval between the two elections the ladies insisted, though in vain, upon a ticket that could not be mistaken, and one for which they could conscientiously work both before and at the late election. But the Committee thought differently, and waited for the Republican nominations to see whether or not they could avail themselves of the same men, and thereby perhaps secure the election of candidates who possibly might fail if put up purely as Temperance men. It was a natural error, perhaps, to suppose their chances of accomplishing anything now, in the early stage of the Temperance party, was by uniting with some other party who would put up acceptable men, and the men first put up by the Republicans were all unexceptionable men.

But when Mr. Foster withdrew from nomination in the First Ward, it began to be apparent what would happen. A sort of panic seemed to seize upon men, and nobody whom the Temperance people could indorse, would consent to stand against R. R. Thompson. While the nominating committee were busy interviewing men who could not be persuaded at that late hour (Saturday afternoon) to accept the nomination as Temperance candidate, the ladies were already foreseeing and regretting the defeat of Temperance measures, since nobody could be found in the First Ward to stand up for them. Just at this juncture I chanced to call in at the Church on my way down town. A little knot of men and women sat there, talking over the rather gloomy prospect, still hoping against hope that a good man for their principles might be found. None of the ministers were present, and only four ladies who had ever worked with the Crusaders. There was no formality about the meeting, nor any persons present who exercised any functions of office or authority. Presently, a gentleman well known to the temperance people, and who has warmly sympathized with them, remarked that he had a draft of a circular to be used on election day, and producing it, read it in an ordinary tone of voice. I, for one, gave not much heed to it, presuming that, as men were accustomed to that sort of electioneering, the gentleman knew what he was about. Whether the other ladies present were more attentive, I cannot say; but from the fact that without more than a few minutes deliberation as to "ways and means" it was informally agreed to print it, I presume that no one detected anything very "infamous" or "blasphemous" about it. As I was going down town with another lady, I offered to hand it in at Himes' printing office, and did so. Mr. Himes being absent, Mr. Turner, of the Temperance Star, took the MS. to hand to him, not, however, reading it.

Since I have seen the article in print, I can see that it is unnecessarily irritating, and in some portions unjust; but I think I may say with certainty, that zeal and not malice prompted it. But what I wish to say, and the object for which this explanation is written, is this: The crusaders had nothing to do with the conception or the publication of the "Voters Book of Remembrance." Nor would it probably have been written (certainly not so carelessly adopted) had not everything been thrown into confusion at the last moment, primarily by the neglect to put out a temperance ticket as the ladies desired, and secondarily by the withdrawal of Mr. Foster. The ladies, so much of whose toilsome effort has been counteracted by this blunder, and it is hoped all good temperance people, can learn a lesson from last Monday's experience.

Wars, for principles, are always more bitter, longer and harder to fight than wars for empire only. If women are to fight this temperance battle, the necessity for which was brought upon them by men, it becomes every man worthy to be called such to smooth the way for them as much as possible; and it becomes all women not actively engaged in it, to lend their sympathy and assistance, and that, too, without presuming to dictate to those who give their time and labor freely, how they shall work.

FRANCES FULLER VICTOR.

MONUMENT TO JIM FISK.—It would have done the late Col. James Fisk's heart good if he could have seen the ceremonies at his own grave on Decoration Day. An elegant marble monument of the most elaborate design and expensive material has been erected over the sacred spot, and inscribed in large letters, FISK, JR. Four life-size marble figures sit at the four corners, and symbolize the pursuits to which the Colonel devoted his career. One represents "Railroads," another "Music and the Drama," a third "Steamboats," and a fourth has a bag of money in one hand, a rod entwined by a serpent in the other, and a wreath on her head surmounted by an eagle. This suggestive design, we may as well explain, is meant for "Commerce." The mourners, bearing a profusion of flowers, white doves, and other emblems, rode to the cemetery on the morning of the 30th, preceded by a band of music and followed by about five thousand people, "many of them being the first of the town."

The Brattleboro correspondence of the Troy Press from which we gather these interesting details, adds parenthetically that after the Fisk ceremonies were over, "the exercises of decorating the graves of deceased soldiers, under the auspices of Post Sedgwick G. A. R., occurred." That was well. We are glad there were no invidious distinctions.—N. Y. Tribune.

PLANETARY FLIRTATIONS.—The fashionable events in celestial society for the ensuing months of the present year will be as follows: At sunset, on the 27th of June, the silvery planet Mercury, seldom distinguishable on account of his close proximity to the sun, will be brightly visible in the west. At five minutes of 9 o'clock on the morning of July 5th, Mars and the sun will be in conjunction. On the 12th of August, at three minutes past 7 in the evening, Jupiter and Venus will approach within one degree of each other—presenting a rare and beautiful spectacle. An annual eclipse of the sun, visible in Asia, and partly in Africa and Northern Europe, will occur on the 10th of October. The magnificent Venus will be at her nearest to our earth on the night of November 10th. One month thence or on the 10th of December, will recur the great centennial transit of the beautiful planet across the disc of the sun, by elaborate observations of which the astronomers of the world hope to establish the exact distance of our world from the sun. On the mornings of the 14th and 15th of the same month, too, Mars and Venus will come within three minutes of each other, so as to seem in actual contact.

LOS ANGELES LETTER.

A young gentleman who formerly resided in Portland, but who is now engaged in the insurance business in California, sends the following letter from Los Angeles under date of the 7th inst., which we publish, trusting that it may be of interest to our numerous readers. The writer says:

I have just made a trip to Los Angeles, and having taken a few notes of the county, its climate, towns, agricultural prospects, etc., I thought, perhaps, they might be of interest to some of your readers. There are several routes to Los Angeles from San Francisco; one overland, via Southern Pacific Railroad to Delano, where you take the Telegraph Stage Line at a cost of $25, excluding meals, etc. The Coast Stage Line charges the same. The P. M. S. S. Co. have a line of steamers on the route between San Francisco and Los Angeles. Their charge is $8 to Wilmington, where the Los Angeles and San Pedro Railroad connects with all vessels sailing to that port. It takes 48 hours to make the trip by steamer (providing you have reasonable weather). At present there is an immense amount of travel, as high as 75 or 80 passengers being compelled to sleep on the decks. The trip is very disagreeable, and unless a person has urgent business, traveling by this route at this season of the year is far from being a pleasure or a comfort. Landing at Wilmington the cars run to Los Angeles in one hour and a quarter. The fare is $2 50. Los Angeles is situated in a sink or little valley near the foothills, and is a very thriving place, claiming a population of 9,000. Not much attention is paid to beautifying streets or public grounds. The Court-House is a miserable old structure, and would reflect discredit on any country town of half the population. There are two first-class hotels, charges moderate and living fair. The population of Los Angeles county (the largest in the State of California) is 25,000. The county claims to have 500,000 acres of land fit for cultivation, 200,000 of this to produce corn with but little irrigation, 300,000 suitable for semi-tropical fruits, providing these have suitable irrigation, to be had partly by running streams or flumes, and the rest must be pumped from surface wells by windmills or other machinery. The principal products of the country are corn, barley, rye, oranges, lemons, lime and grapes. At present the growth of oranges is receiving the greatest attention, as an orange tree from 10 to 15 years old will produce from 1,000 to 1,500 oranges per year, which are worth on an average from $15 to $40 per 1,000, according to quality. Farmers or planters who heretofore paid their undivided attention to the culture of grapes, find by actual experience that the orange is more profitable, and finds a readier sale than grapes or wine, and notwithstanding it takes some time and considerable work before an orange orchard will bear fruit or become a source of profit, it is now spoken of and looked upon as one of the chief future prospects of the country.

An immense amount of wool is produced, and only one woolen factory in Southern California, which yearly consumes about 35,000 pounds of wool. The rest is shipped to San Francisco and Eastern cities.

There are three railroads at present running from Los Angeles, one to Wilmington, one to Spodra, going north, the other south to Anaheim, all of which belong to the Southern Pacific Railroad, and at one time will be a portion of the great Texas and Southern Pacific Railroad line.

The climate is uniform, having from 225 to 240 clear days in the year. The average rainfall is from twelve to thirteen inches per year. At present there is no inducement for laborers or mechanics to seek Los Angeles county for employment, as it has more men now than it can give employment to. There are but two new business houses being in course of construction at this time, while in most other cities in California this year presents a healthy growth, and much improvement going on. Anaheim has a population of 1,500, and is supported principally by vineyards. Wilmington is the port of entry for all vessels with freight or passengers; for it is situated on a bayou or slough, about 8 miles from the ocean, and is about 25 miles from Los Angeles, and has a population of a thousand. There are several other smaller towns in the county, but these three are the principal ones. If California is ever divided, which I hear some little talk of down here, Los Angeles is the proposed Capital of the new State to be, and if the division is ever made, Los Angeles in the course of years will be second to no city on this coast, excepting San Francisco.

SUNDAY IN WASHINGTON.

THE PITTSBURGH LEADER'S CORRESPONDENT TAKES A SUNDAY TRIP ON THE POTOMAC—PEN PORTRAITS OF SOME OF HIS COMPANIONS.

There were quite a number of distinguished people on board. Ex-Attorney General Hoar came alone under a huge soft hat, with a copy of the Evening Post in his hand. He is as cool as a refrigerator, and his refreshing presence was peculiarly grateful to the excitable ones present. He was never known to perspire or make a quick motion in his life. He follows exactly the advice given by a doting mother to her daughter away at a boarding school when she wrote to her, "Above all, my dear, cultivate repose of manner." Congressman Luttrell, the California Granger, was there looking exceedingly fierce, under a black slouch hat, with his black mustache a la militaire. He had a pretty young Washington lady with him, and his wife 3,000 miles away. Congressmen Durham, Crittenden, Foot, and several others fully as good as they, fellow members, burdened down with ladies and children, were on board. It was pleasant to see how meek these lions were when surrounded by their families. A man can't be gloomy and impressive with a baby digging into his linen, and a wife, who is up to all his points, is leaning heavily upon his arm. Senator Kelly was the only representative of the Senate who was along. He had a wife and a lot of small children attachments with him.

COST OF THE TICHBORNE PROSECUTION.—A return was published in London, May 16th, showing the amount expended by the Government upon the Tichborne prosecution, and the probable amount still remaining to be paid out of the vote of Parliament for this service. In 1872-3, the amount paid was £2,644 0s 3d, divided as follows: Counsel's fees, £1,146 16s 0d; law stationers, £673 12s 1d; witnesses, agents, &c., &c., £523 11s 5d. In 1873-4, the amount was £47,171 5s 10d, the following being the several items: Counsels fee, £22,195 15s 1d; witnesses, agents, &c., &c., £8,838 19s 8d; law stationers and printing, £4,563 15s 10d; short-hand writers, £3,493 5s; and the jury, £3,780. The amount expended up to the 11th of April this year, therefore, was £49,815 17s 1d. The estimated amount of expenditure remaining unpaid is Australian and Chili witnesses, £1,000, and other witnesses, agents, printing, &c. &c., £1,500, making the total probable cost of trial, £55,315 17s 1d.

SENATOR SUMNER'S WINES.—The wines and liquors of the late Senator Sumner were sold to-day. There were about 425 bottles and a variety of different wines. In exceptional cases only they brought fancy prices. Seven bottles of old Romanee Burgundy, highly prized by Mr. Sumner brought $7 a bottle. One bottle of Johannisberger Cabinet, from the cellars of Prince Metternich 1862 was sold for $12. The auctioneer said he learned from a credible source it was Mr. Sumner's special admiration and that whenever he went into his wine cellar, which was perhaps once a year, he had this identical bottle hunted up, and always remarked he intended to have it opened on some occasion when he had particular friends to dine with him.

SELLING OUT.—A Washington dispatch of June 4th says: Gov. Shepherd to-day sold his stock in The Evening Star Newspaper Company of this city, the remaining members of the Company buying in his interest in equal proportions. The price paid is understood to be at the rate of 50 per cent. premium on the par value of the stock.

OREGON.

Astoria has four hotels and five private boarding houses.

Some of the Salem Temperance ladies are in favor of the "compulsory education" of some of our new legislators on the "local option" question.

J. L. Stout, contractor for carrying the United States mails from Astoria to Olympia, via Shoalwater Bay, has purchased the sloop Lizzie Brown to carry mail and passengers between Astoria and Unity.

The Lebanon Grange had a brilliant meeting last Saturday, at their hall. They raised to the fourth degree seventeen members, and enjoyed a harvest feast at the close of the ceremonies. They had a large number of visiting brethren present, and a most happy time was had.

The Astorian says: There is room for producing more grain in this part of Oregon than is now in the Willamette valley. We have sample of barley five feet high, rye seven feet ten inches, and oats waist high nicely heading out, from Hans Anderson's place—Mishawaka, Nehalem valley.

The citizens of Astoria held a meeting Tuesday evening and resolved to celebrate the Fourth of July in grand style. A committee of arrangements was appointed, consisting of J. Wm. Welch, F. Ferrell, C. H. Page, John Adair and J. Q. A. Bowlby. We hope to present the programme to our readers next week.

T. B. Handley, G. C. of the Independent Order of Champions of the Red Cross, organized Eureka Encampment No. —, at Eugene City, June 15th. The following named Companions were installed officers for the remainder of the present term: E. C., Wm. Runner; E. Com., A. R. Page; Sr. C., Edra Brown; Sec., Thos. Judson; Treas., C. B. Johnson; C. of H., L. G. Jackson; C. of R. C., W. I. Henderson; M. of C., Behrens; W. C., Pixley; J. C., S. Poindexter; Im., Julia Woods; V., F. Wynne; 1st G., Dittard; 1st L., E. L. Jenning; O. G., D. R. Engley; R. S., John Killingsworth. This Encampment meets at the Good Templars' hall, Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

In the Douglas Pit, on Monday, a Chinaman was injured from ignited gas, he having entered too far with a naked torch.

The Mayor held a Court on last Monday to grant retail liquor licenses for the City of Victoria, for six months, commencing on the 1st proximo.

It would appear that Dominion Day in the mountains, promises to be a lively occasion. According to latest accounts the celebration fund had reached $1,800, and the money was still coming in.

The Nanaimos have invited their tillicums from Comox to Cape Flattery and up the west coast of Vancouver as far as Barclay Sound to meet them in solemn conclave at the Council Halls. There will be the usual grand potlatch and pow-wow, and it was expected there would be fully two thousand dusky braves present.

A Chinaman, at Rock creek, was buried under a land slide, while working in a mining claim. The body was not recovered for twelve days, although every effort was made, his friends burning paper and engaging in other superstitious ceremonies with a view to bringing him out.

A Clinton dispatch says: An Indian girl was found drowned in the creek. Mr. Foster, J. P., held an inquest, and the jury found a verdict in accordance with the circumstances. The Indians are anxiously awaiting the arrival of Commissioner Powell. They have not been in a very amiable mood for some time. Judge Gray holds court here on the 20th.

At Newcastle mine, on Saturday, a miner named Wm. Beck was seriously and, it is feared fatally, injured by the falling of a portion of the roof. When taken from the mine it was seen that he was badly hurt, and Dr. Jones was immediately sent for. On examination the doctor found that his back was broken, and the lower extremities had become paralyzed and useless.

The following items are furnished the Mail, from LaConner: E. T. Dodge, Esq., one of the pioneer farmers of Skagit valley, last week shipped, by the B. L. Martin, to Victoria, B. C., the first load of timothy hay from that valley. The recent freshet in Skagit has moved the jam in that river about ten rods. The water is now forcing a channel around the jam through a slough, and is cutting away a part of Jasper Gates' farm, endangering his home. Two thousand tons of grain, mostly oats and barley, is the estimated yield of Skagit Valley this season. Also a large quantity of potatoes and hay. We think this pretty good, considering the recent settlement of the valley, which has been mostly within the last four years.

BREAKING IT GENTLY.—"When the lamented Judge Bagley tripped and fell down the Court House stairs and broke his neck," says Mark Twain in the Galaxy, "it was a great question how to break the news to poor Mrs. Bagley. But finally the body was put into Higgins' wagon, and he was instructed to take it to Mrs. B., but to be very guarded and discreet in his language, and not to break the news to her at once, but do it gradually and gently. When Higgins got there with his sad freight, he shouted till Mrs. Bagley came to the door; then he said, 'Does the widow Bagley live here?' 'The widow Bagley? No, sir!' 'I'll bet she does. But have it your own way. Well, does Judge Bagley live here?' 'Yes, Judge Bagley lives here.' 'I'll bet he don't. But never mind—it ain't for me to contradict. Is the Judge in?' 'No, not at present.' 'I jest expected as much. Because, you know—take hold o' suthin', mum, for I'm a going to make a little communication, and I reckon maybe it'll jar you some. There's been an accident, mum; I've got the old Judge curled up out here in the wagon—and when you see him you'll acknowledge yourself that an inquest is about the only thing that could be a comfort to him.'"

AN UNPLEASANT STORY ABOUT CONKLING.—This is an unpleasant story which we find in the Utica Observer. Prefacing its little revelation with the remark that every reader of the Senate debates must have noticed how courteous Roscoe Conkling has been to his colleague, of late, the Observer says: "The explanation of it as it comes from the lips of Fenton himself is, to say the least, curious. He says: 'I have Conkling by the throat. If he dares to open his mouth against me, he is a ruined man.' This of course may be a mere idle boast, although it comes from a man not given to idle boasting. We guess it is, though, come to think of it, Mr. Conkling has been painfully careless of his company this last year, and the good Book has something to say about evil communications and good manners." —Springfield Republican.

AN ATTEMPT TO SHIELD DURELL.—At the meeting of the House Judiciary Committee this morning a motion was made to absolutely dismiss the Durrell impeachment case, but several members being absent, it was decided that it could not be done in the face of what the committee had already decided, and the matter was further postponed until next Tuesday. The committee decided to report articles of impeachment against Judge Busteed, of Alabama, on a charge of being a non-resident of the State. The Reynolds case, which is also the basis of another charge, will be voted upon next Tuesday.—Wash. Corr. June 5.

ARRESTED FOR TREASON.—Says a Little Rock telegram, 3d inst.: C. H. Rice, President of the Board of Supervisors, and George W. Pregmore, Circuit Clerk of Jefferson county, who were engaged in the late troubles on the side of Brooks, were arrested in this city yesterday on a charge of treason, on a warrant issued by a civil magistrate of Pine Bluff. Soon after being arrested the parties were brought before Chancellor Warrick on a writ of habeas corpus. The hearing of the writ was postponed until to-morrow.

THE TERRITORIES.

The Grass Valley Mine, Owyhee county, Idaho, turns out gold bricks worth $25,000, weekly. So said.

General Sprague and a party of English capitalists are now in Tacoma examining the townsight in regard to its availability for investments.

A package of natural objects gathered on the Sound is now lying in the express office at Olympia, awaiting shipment to a museum in Vienna, Austria.

Tumwater circuit campmeeting on Black river campground, Thurston county, W. T., will commence June 18, 1874, and is expected to close the 22d inst.

One sixth of the Thad. Stevens (in Dry creek, Utah,) mine has been sold for $30,000, cash. If we are correctly informed, this whole mine was sold early last spring for $30,000.

A gentleman of long experience in mining camps, who has been spending several days in Bingham, Utah, expresses it as his belief that the mines of that justly celebrated district will turn out from $4,000,000 to $6,000,000 worth of ore this season.

The Association of the Christian Church on Yelm Prairie, W. T., last Sunday, was well attended. Clergymen gathered in from different parts of the Territory, and the membership generally, in that section of the country were in attendance, and the occasion was one of much interest.

The Tenino Coal Company are pushing their mining operations vigorously. They have some thirty-five men in their employ, who are engaged in running a tunnel into the hill-side, which is already in some seventy-five feet; others are clearing timber away, ready for the erection of houses, and for a road to the mines, and altogether the enterprise is being rapidly advanced.

F. M. Thorp, of Kittitass valley, arrived in Seattle last week, having made the trip via the Snoqualmie in three days. From him the Intelligencer learns that the snow on the mountains has nearly disappeared; and that the road is in comparatively good condition, with little timber fallen. Mr. Thorp reports little doing in the Swauk mines—the Discovery Company's claim and one other being the only ones worked. On the bars of the Yakima, prospects of a cent to the bucket have been obtained, and it is thought that profitable employment for a limited number of men may be had during the summer months, on that stream.

Several new settlers are reported lately to have taken claims in Nehalem.

ANOTHER WORD IN DEFENSE &c

Our highly esteemed friend Mrs Frances Fuller Victor in its "A Word in Defense of the Crusaders" in which she nearly but not quite tells who wrote that piece of scurrility the "Voters Book of Remembrance" the circulation of which on last Monday excited such general disgust and indignation among all sensible and sober minded people who saw it. It appears now that the ladies who had to do with that indecency did so without fully understanding what the filthy sheet contained it having been written by a person—whom by the way she speaks of as a gentleman—whose name is not disclosed. Accepting this excuse for all it is worth the case is only so much better as it is less bad to issue and circulate a libel without stopping to see what is its true character, than to do the same act knowingly. The one act is a culpable and inexcusable disregard of the rights and feelings of other people the other has the element of malice and beyond this the two cases are alike. In their gross offensiveness and in their injustice there is no difference. Whoever wrote the paper in question is a blackguard by nature and education, whoever circulated it, knowing its contents is a bird of the same feather, and whoever circulated it not knowing its contents—newsboys of course, excepted—are guilty of inexcusable carelessness and want of consideration for the effects of their own acts upon the reputation and feelings of their neighbors. We leave those concerned to range themselves in whichsoever of these three classes they properly belong to.

Our gifted correspondent seems to think also it is necessary to offer a plea for the Temperance politicians on the charge of their fornications with the Republican ring. In answer, as we take it to our remarks wherein we charged that the Temperance party nominated drinking men, because the Ring nominated them, she says that when the Temperance party determined—against the protest of the ladies and, we infer, at the dictation of the Ring politicians who had crept into the organization to debauch it—to follow the fortunes of the Republicans, the nominations that had been made by the latter "were all unexceptionable men" and that only when Mr John R Foster declined to stand as a candidate and the Republicans put up another man did that state of affairs cease to exist. The truth is not to be parried in this way. What we said about the ticket applied with just as much force before Mr Foster declined as afterwards. We speak from personal knowledge when we say that one or more of the three Republican candidates, before as well as after Mr Foster declined, were men who make no pretense to total abstinence, men who occasionally join in the social glass. They were "unexceptionable" men just as much so as their opponents were and no more, so far as the Temperance question goes but they were not "unexceptionable" men in the Temperance party's sense of that term, unless the Temperance party's profession of total abstinence principles is a naked pretense and a sham—which we hope it is not.

As this is likely to prove our farewell article on this branch of the temperance question we shall refer to one more idea to which our gifted correspondent gives considerable prominence namely, that because the crusaders are engaged in an effort to put down drinking and relieve the world of the great curse of drunkenness therefore they are entitled to the unquestioning sympathy of all good people whether the methods they adopt and the means they choose for the accomplishment of that object, are right or wrong. Such a proposition needs but to be stated to be condemned. Morally, socially, politically, every way, the doctrine of doing evil that good may come, is utterly vicious. It is bad and bad only in its effect on the man woman or party that adopts it and generally fails in practice to produce even the temporary or seeming good it promised.

WHERE THE PEOPLE'S MONEY GOES

A few days before the recent general election, it was bruited about the streets that Sheriff Caywood, who was a candidate for re election, having received the nomination of the Ring Republicans had appointed a large number of deputies to serve during the election. The pretended cause of this extraordinary action was, that it was supposed there would be much riotous and disorderly conduct at and about the polls in the city precincts to repress which a large police force from the Sheriff's office would be found necessary. Everybody who knew anything about the case knew this pretense was false. There had not been of late any serious disorders at the election polls in this city. The ballot system of voting had proved in the last city election and in the Congressional election of last October, a sovereign remedy for that evil, by allowing ample time for every voter to exercise his privilege without jostling his neighbor. The source of nearly all the disorders at the elections heretofore has been the difficulty of getting all the votes in under the slow and tedious plan of voting viva voce, and the excitement incident to the fact of every citizen's ballot being watched by the numerous army of strikers employed on such occasions by the managers of the various parties. When these features were removed from our elections, riotous and disorderly conduct at the polls disappeared. The truth is, Mr Sheriff Caywood made use of his position to place around the polls a large force of those who he supposed would be serviceable to himself in the contest. This was plain to the most casual observation. There was no other earthly use for these numerous deputy sheriffs.

But if there had been reasonable ground to apprehend disorder there was no authority of law for the appointment of the army of deputies. The law does not allow it. It is violation of the statute and a usurpation. The statute on the subject is as plain as A B C and no one could misunderstand it. And Mr Caywood's attention was called to this want of authority before the election and acted well knowing he had no such power. After the election a case arose in the police court wherein the question whether this power existed was deemed pertinent, and even Police Judge Denny who is known to be a most intense partisan of the ring of which Caywood was the candidate, decided that no such authority existed that the appointments were illegal and void and that the so called deputy sheriffs were not deputy sheriffs at all.

After the election bills were presented to the County Court for payment of this illegal standing army of Caywood's. Of course the Commissioners promptly refused to pay it. Did they? Of course they did no such thing. They simply paid the bills in the face of the law in the face of right in the face of this community out of whose pockets the money came.

Don't try impossible and look incredulous. If you do you will show how little you know of what is done with the taxes you pay. What is a few hundreds of dollars drawn from the tax payers to help elect the "ring candidate for Sheriff"? Why it is the merest trifle in the world. If it had been foreseen how badly Caywood would be beaten with the working force he had in the field, doubtless he would have doubled or trebled his force of deputies, and the County Commissioners would have footed the bill out of the people's pockets.

So Mr Pinchback—P B S Pinchback of Louisiana—has not yet secured that seat in the House of Representatives. In the records of the House for June 9th we find that Darrall's substitute declaring Pinchback entitled prima facie to the seat was negatived without division. The first resolution of the minority of the Committee that Pinchback was not elected was adopted without discussion. The second resolution of the minority of the Committee declaring Sheridan elected was negatived—yeas 71 nays 145. On motion of Mr Hawley of Illinois the vote on the first minority resolution was reconsidered and then the resolution was rejected by yeas 94; nays 121. A vote was then taken on the majority resolutions declaring that the testimony was not sufficient to show the election of either Pinchback or Sheridan and permitting them to take further testimony and the resolutions were agreed to without division. Thus ends Pinchback's "struggles" ingloriously.

In the French Assembly, June 9th M. Rouher called the attention of the Chamber to the charges in relation to improper and fraudulent contracts and appointments reported by the committee on the acts of the September government against Leon Gambetta. A violent scene ensued. Gambetta replied that he had always answered the questions of the committee but did not admit the right of "wretches" (alluding to the Bonapartists) to question him. Rouher replied in angry tones but the excitement and tumult was so great that his answer was inaudible. M Buffett threatened to move a vote of censure on Gambetta for the words he had spoken and when the sitting had ended Gambetta and his friends were followed from the Chamber by Bonapartists who insulted them. And this was the origin of the tumults in Paris and the riots at the railway depots.

The Chicago Advance one of the leading religious weeklies of the West grieves over the disposition of the newspaper press to exaggerate the bad points in the character of the Member from Essex. It says touchingly "We deplore a course by religious newspapers particularly which only tends to widen the gulf between him and the influences which might win him to a thorough and confessed Christian life. Ah!" The Chicago Tribune sincerely hopes that, if any enthusiast sees any hope of making a good man out of B B., the religious newspapers will not throw any further obstacles in the way of the secular press to accomplish the result.

The San Jose Mercury would like to see this ticket put in the field in 1876. For President Charles Francis Adams for Vice President Nathan Booth. But the Alta California informs us that Booth will not be satisfied with the second place that he is going in for the Granger nomination for the Presidency. No one has spoken for Mr Adams yet.

In a Cairo (Ill) dispatch we find a brief record of the manner in which Mary Hemm trifled with a can of kerosene. Mary was a domestic in the family of Mr Jacob Martin and the can exploded. The sympathetic reporter feelingly remarks "She will know better next time."

The Duke of Connaught—Prince Arthur—appeared in the House of Lords for the first time as a member of that body on the night of the 8th inst.

POSTAL FRAUDS—POSTOFFICE COMMITTEE QUIBBLE.—A Washington dispatch of June 11th says the House Postoffice Committee at its session to day manifested a repugnance to make a thorough investigation of the charges preferred by Stone and Luttrell as to frauds in the letting of mail contracts. Luttrell appeared before that Committee with letters from gentlemen in various parts of California and the West offering to testify to alleged frauds. Luttrell vouches for the standing and responsibility of the parties but when he asked that they be summoned the Committee hesitated and quibbled. They asked him whether to his personal knowledge these parties could testify as they asserted yet. Luttrell grew quite indignant and there was quite an interesting scene in the Committee room for a few moments.

THE CASE OF GOV MOSES.—A Charleston (S. C.) dispatch of May 31st says. The trial of Governor Moses for grand larceny which was set down for Friday at Orangeburg did not take place in consequence of the absence of the accused. The Solicitor for the State asked for a warrant of arrest, but the court refused it. The counsel for Moses then moved to strike the case from the docket on the ground that the Governor can not be indicted and tried [illegible] before impeachment. The court reserved its decision on [illegible] and postponed the case till the next court which meets in October. This is regarded as substantially a triumph for Moses.

CITY.

GONE UP THE VALLEY.—Mrs F M Phelps and her troupe will leave Portland early next week for a short professional tour up the valley. Next Monday evening Mrs Phelps assisted by her troupe, will give a performance at Salem. The Company will also appear on Tuesday evening at the same place. On Wednesday evening the Company will appear at Albany and on Thursday evening at Corvallis. We can congratulate the people of these towns on the rich dramatic treat prom and them. Madame Phelps has appeared here numerous times within the past fortnight. It is needless to state that she has delighted our public by her fresh, spirited and charming acting, and under the most discouraging circumstances has won golden opinions. Her troupe although small in number is composed of talented members who cannot fail to please. We are certain the amusement lovers of the interior towns which are to be visited by the troupe will be delighted with this finished actress, and the charming balladist, Miss Lizzie Morgan, to say nothing of the other members of the company. Cheerfully we recommend Mrs. Phelps and her company as being worthy of patronage. The company will return to Portland the last of next week, and will re appear at Oro Fino on the 3d of July.

THE LIQUOR ORDINANCE.—The ordinance passed by the Common Council of this city on Wednesday evening is published in full in our advertising columns this morning. Its main features are substantially as follows. Before an applicant can obtain license to sell spirituous liquors he must file a bond with the City Auditor in the penal sum of $1 000 with two sureties, who shall justify as bail in an arrest the conditions of the bond being that the applicant for license will keep an orderly house. The rate of license is raised from $50 to $100 per quarter. No license is assignable or transferable, no license can be obtained by a woman and no woman can be an employee either as bar tender, singer, player or dancer in any place where liquors are sold. All bar rooms or places where liquors are sold shall be closed during the voting hours of any general or city election day. No person is allowed to sell or give spirituous liquors to a minor or an intoxicated person. Fines or imprisonment and forfeiture of license are the penalties imposed for violation of this ordinance.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.—The semi annual examinations of corresponding classes will commence to-day at the Central Building. The examination of the primary classes will be followed by the intermediate and grammar grades. The patrons of our schools and all other friends of education are respectfully invited to be present. Your attendance will give character and dignity to the exercises and encourage teachers and pupils. The Rules and Regulations governing the Public Schools provide for semi-annual examinations and promotions. It is very important then that every pupil should be in attendance; otherwise he will have to remain in his present class until the expiration of another five months. Special examinations are held for the benefit of pupils who have performed the work required of them, and not for those who absent themselves to avoid this test.

CRUSADING.—The Crusaders were out again yesterday. "Tom Thumb" Saloon was one of the objective points. We imagined Chinese New Year's had come again, from the clatter caused by the explosion of firecrackers, which began the moment the ladies appeared in front of the aforesaid "hole in the wall."

TRIED FOR LIFE.

TRIAL OF R GIBBENS IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR THE MURDER OF CHAS F SCHOPPE

Yesterday being the day set for the trial of Robert Gibbens indicted for the murder of Chas F Schoppe immediately on Court convening the prisoner was brought into the room. In anticipation of the trial several hundred persons had assembled. When Gibbens came into the crowded Court room he looked wan and nervous and betrayed strong indications of mental suffering. One side of his forehead was still bruised and swollen from the effects of the heavy blow dealt him after the fatal shot was fired and his countenance bore unmistakable traces of rough usage. On reaching the bar (old) he cast a quick nervous glance at the sea of faces and then sank down into a chair which was proffered him by the bailiff. From the moment the prisoner took his seat he sat as motionless as a marble statue with his head slightly inclined forward, and his eyes gazing vacantly at the floor. He turned neither to the right nor left and seemed totally unconscious of his surroundings. Occasionally it could be seen that his cheeks grew a little paler than usual and the muscles of his features relax and grow rigid and at one time the prisoner was seen to shed a few tears.

Mr Caples who was appointed by the Court to defend the prisoner presented to the Court an affidavit from the prisoner tending to show that he (defendant) could not obtain a fair and impartial trial in this county. That gentleman read to the Court the accounts of the homicide as published in the several papers of the city as tending to show the crime committed in a prejudiced and exaggerated light, that there now existed in the mind of this community a strong feeling against the prisoner and that the accounts as published were calculated to create prejudice adverse to the cause of the prisoner. Mr Caples also read several affidavits from persons residing in this city, to the effect that they had held conversations with various persons and that in their opinion it would hardly be possible to obtain a fair and impartial trial of the defendant. The counsel moved that the trial of the prisoner be transferred to another county. This motion was argued at some length by Messrs Caples Thompson and Cronin, but finally overruled by the Court.

Mr Caples then filed a motion asking for a continuance of the case until Saturday morning. The motion set forth that the defense had several important witnesses who resided at the Cascades whose attendance on Court would be necessary to a fair trial of the prisoner, that notwithstanding subpenas were issued on Wednesday afternoon it would scarcely be possible to get such witnesses down before Friday evening. However the Court overruled the motion after it had been argued and directed that the case proceed.

Mr Caples filed a motion, raising the point as to whether the Court had any authority to issue a venire for twenty four additional jurors for the trial of the defendant. The counsel claimed that the manner in which the venire was drawn was informal, and not in accordance with law as prescribed in the statute. This motion was denied and an exception noted by the counsel. The Court then directed that the Clerk proceed with the drawing of the jury.

EMPANELING THE JURY

The Clerk then proceeded to empanel the jury. Great difficulty was experienced in finding jurors who had not either formed or expressed an unqualified opinion. Some time was required to obtain the complement of jurors who were qualified to serve. The drawing commenced at 10 o'clock A M and the jury box was not filled until half past 1 o'clock. The following jurors were empaneled: P J Cone, John Ward, S Farrall, J P Powell, G O Bailey, F H Ramsey, A Hilman, J C Kingsley, David Illerson, A Fisher, William Showers, H W Davis.

After the jury was sworn the case was opened by Geo H Durham District Attorney, who narrated the circumstances of the homicide and made the usual statement. He was followed by J F Caples for the defense. The Court then took a recess of three-quarters of an hour. At the

HOUR APPOINTED

The Court met, and on the jury list being called all were found present.

Mr Caples moved the Court that before the examination of witnesses began all the witnesses for the prosecution should be called sworn and excluded from the room, and each examined separately.

The motion was allowed, and all the witnesses for the prosecution were called and sworn and then requested to retire from the room. The same ruling was asked for and granted with regard to the witnesses for the defense.

ANNIE MILES,

Who being called, testified. I never saw defendant before the night on which the homicide took place, at the Cozy saloon on Oak street between First and Front, defendant came to the saloon on the evening of the 13th with another man and called for cigars. I gave them cigars. Soon after Gibbens went out at the back door to the hydrant; after a while I went out to see what he was doing; just as I opened the door defendant fired at me with a pistol. I ran back through the bar room and out at the front door. Mr Schoppe who was standing on the opposite side of the street came running over when he heard the shot and passed me on his way into the saloon; at the time defendant fired at me there was no one in the saloon except myself. The witness then proceeded to show to the jury, by means of a small wooden model of the bar room and its surroundings, where the defendant was sitting at the time he fired the shot at her.

Cross examined.—I could not tell the exact distance from where the defendant was sitting at the time he fired the shot to where I was standing; it was about nine o'clock when these gentlemen came in for cigars; at the time these gentlemen came into the saloon, there was no other woman about the house; the proprietress Minnie Walton was up town, and Nettie Walker had gone out to lunch. When I went back I only partly opened the door. I could see defendant easily, sitting near the hydrant. I saw the pistol in the hands of the defendant when he fired at me. Could not say whether defendant followed me or not, after he fired. I was too badly frightened to look back. I met Mr Schoppe just as I was coming out at the front door; he went on into the saloon and just had time to enter the bar room when I heard the second shot.

MR PAT FAGAN

Was next called and testified. Last Saturday evening I saw the defendant at Mr Wetsell's saloon, from there we went to the Cozy saloon; we saw Annie Miles there and Nettie Walker. I called for the drinks; soon after we went in, defendant took a cigar and I had some beer. Annie Miles waited on us. I staid in the saloon about two minutes after we entered. Nettie Walker came up and asked me to treat. I soon went up stairs; just as I reached the top of the stairs I heard the first shot; ran half way down but could see nothing for the smoke; soon heard some one sing out, "Clear out or I'll blow your brains out you d—d s—n of a b—h." I do not know who it was that spoke. I left the house by way of the back stairs just after the second shot was fired; the proprietress told me that I had better leave. I had just ascended the stairway when the report of the pistol was heard.

Cross examined.—When I first went into the saloon Annie Miles and Nettie Walker were both in; they were standing [illegible] the bar; after defendant got the cigar it was about three minutes before he went out at the back door; I went up stairs with Nettie just at this time; the second shot was fired; I was standing up near the head of the stairs; both defendant and I myself had been drinking that evening; we had visited Wetsell's saloon, Otto Brener's, the Oriflamme and another place before we went into the Cozy; defendant drank beer at each of these places. Minnie Walton told me after the second shot was fired to go out of the house as Mr Schoppe was shot and killed; I did leaving by the back stairs; both Minnie and Nettie went up stairs at the time of the shooting.

M[illegible]

Was called next and testified. I was on the evening of the 13th of June in front of Baum … & Gutman's place of business; it was near the Cozy saloon while standing there I heard the report of a pistol in the direction of the Cozy; I ran to the corner and I saw a woman come running out of the saloon crying that she had been shot. I saw Schoppe in half a minute after the first shot was fired running toward the saloon; when I first observed Schoppe he was almost at the front door of the Cozy. I saw him enter the saloon and the next instant after he disappeared I heard the second shot; saw the officer push the front door open after the second shot was fired. I heard considerable noise in the saloon as if some one was pushing the chairs and tables about, I did not enter the saloon for a few moments after the second shot was fired. When I entered I saw some one raising Schoppe up and trying to get him to take a drink of water; his coat and vest were off and I saw blood on his shirt. The man who was raising the officer up said he was dying. I also saw another man lying on the floor apparently insensible.

Cross examined.—There were several men in the saloon when I entered. Schoppe never spoke a word after I entered.

A J DEITS

Was called and testified. I am a carpenter on East side in Portland. I know where the Cozy saloon is situated; since the homicide I have measured the bar room. I also made the model which is now before the jury. [The witness then took the model and explained the premises the various distances from one door to another, situation of room, doors windows etc and the general situation of the premises where the homicide took place. The witness also described the place where the ball which was first fired from the pistol entered the wall near the foot of the inside stairs; also the exact range of the bullet from the spot where the defendant was sitting at the time he discharged the weapon to where it passed through the partly opened door and buried itself in the wall.] The witness stated that the back door was a simple panel door and had no glass in it.

OFFICER CORCORAN

Was next called and testified. I am a police officer. I was on First street in the evening of June 13th about 9 o clock. I heard a pistol shot in the direction of the Cozy; on hearing the first shot I turned back and ran towards the saloon; when I came near I saw Annie Miles standing at the corner by Wetsell's saloon talking with several persons; at the first shot I was standing at the corner of First and Pine; I went into the Cozy and found the defendant prostrate on the floor and Mr Schoppe lying across his body; the defendant was lying with his head near the table, with his right cheek on the floor; officer Schoppe was lying almost directly over him, near his head was lying a policeman's billy. Schoppe's appearance was that of a dying man; he was bleeding profusely and gasping for breath; he looked at me, attempted to speak but could not; he seemed to recognize me. I found a pistol on the floor and handed it to the bystanders. [Here the witness was shown a pistol which he recognized and identified as the one which he had picked up.] I then turned my attention to the defendant; he was covered with blood and I could not ascertain the extent of his injuries. I pulled him partially up and discovered that he was not seriously hurt; assisted by officer Hudson I took the defendant to jail as soon as he was capable of walking; he made a slight resistance but we had no trouble in taking him to jail. I know the clothing which Mr Schoppe had on at the time he was shot. [Here the coat, vest and shirt of deceased were exhibited to the witness which he at once identified as having belonged to officer Schoppe. These articles of clothing were also shown to the jury.] At the time Mr Schoppe was shot he had on his star; it was on the left breast of the coat above the nipple; when I first entered the saloon it was lighted up brightly.

MR A D TUFTS

Was called and testified. About 9 o clock on the evening of the 13th I was standing near the Cozy when I heard a pistol shot in an eastern direction. I ran in the direction and saw a woman running out of the saloon crying out that she was shot; at the same time I saw Schoppe crossing the street towards the saloon; he went in at the front door and he had scarcely disappeared from sight before I heard a second shot; a moment later and I heard two blows which sounded from the bar room; one was quite loud and the other not so loud; soon after I entered and found officer Corcoran in the saloon; I saw two men lying on the floor with their heads under the table; one was the defendant and the other was officer Schoppe. I saw the pistol but could hardly identify it; it was handed to me and I laid it on the table; officer Collins soon took it, and I did not see it any more until late on Saturday night when I first entered the saloon I saw Schoppe; he was in a dying condition, and expired soon after; the defendant was insensible prostrate and covered with blood; the crowds soon began to pour in and I was crowded back; the defendant after he was taken to jail was very bloody and had a contusion on the left side of his head.

W F GALLAGHER

Testified. I was standing on Oak street on the evening of the 13th, about 75 feet from Front and about 75 feet from the Cozy on the same side of the street. I heard a pistol shot and saw a woman running away from the Cozy. I heard a second shot a moment later; did not see any one run into the saloon before the second shot; saw Corcoran then run towards the saloon and enter; soon after I went in found Schoppe and defendant on the floor; assisted Corcoran to take Schoppe off the defendant; he was dying, and the defendant was covered with blood; ripped open Schoppe's shirt to discover where he was shot and asked some one to go after a physician. Schoppe died a moment after we took him off the defendant. We examined Schoppe, but could not find any pistol or any kind of weapon on his person; did not see the face of the defendant until he was turned over; saw blood all over his face and head, but could not tell how badly he was hurt.

CAPT A D BLANKAN

Testified. Was in charge of the City Jail on last Saturday evening about 9 o clock; saw the pistol when it was first brought into the jail; the pistol is in the same condition now that it was when it was first brought in; there were three empty chambers in the cylinder. [Here the pistol was exhibited to the jury.] Do not think I ever saw defendant before he was brought to the city jail; on Sunday evening had some conversation with the defendant; he stated that he had no recollection whatever of having any difficulty at the Cozy on Saturday evening; asked the defendant if he did not remember having had a difficulty some months ago with a man at Duffy's saloon whom he had cut; defendant said he did; said he had cut the man but both were drinking. When defendant was first brought to the jail he was very abusive; called me a d—d s—n of a b—h and all the other officers; said I had robbed him before; that he had killed an officer and he only regretted that he had not killed two or three more; that all we could do was to hang him. On searching the defendant when he was first brought into the saloon, we found on his person $25 in coin, a lot of lead pencils, a phial of chloroform, a small pocket book and a few papers; found no weapons on his person; after the blood was washed off his face and head observed that there was a contusion on the left side of his face; defendant did not speak after being brought to the jail until one of the officers made the remark, "This is the man who killed Schoppe."

DR ALFRED KINNEY

Am a medical man; was walking down First street on Saturday evening, and learning that an officer had been hurt I entered the Cozy saloon; I found officer Schoppe lying on the floor dead; made a partial examination of the wound at that time and went away; subsequently I was summoned to attend the Coroner inquest where I made a careful examination of the injuries. [Here the witness proceeded to explain in a medical manner the character of the wound which caused the death of Mr Schoppe. [illegible] Mr Kinney described the course of the ball from where it entered [illegible] right side below the armpit and passing through the heart and lungs [illegible] deceased was a large and well developed man [illegible] great vitality and [illegible] wound [illegible] the ball which passed through the chest [illegible] and passed from the body sufficiently large to admit the insertion of my finger. [The witness then gave the jury an [illegible] the injuries inflicted about the head of the defendant] [illegible] of the opinion that the wounds about the head of the defendant were inflicted by a dull instrument; probably a club stick; the ball which killed Schoppe was about three quarters of an inch in length; the clothes were removed from [illegible] a careful examination of Schoppe's wounds [illegible] until after I was called to attend the inquest; the ball was found at the time the examination was made between the undershirt and the skin just above the spine. [The ball which was picked up at the time was shown to the witness and identified.] Am of the opinion that the wound about the defendant's head might have been produced by falling against some blunt object; however the character of the wounds would favor the supposition that they were inflicted by a short stick.

DR S HUNAKER

Testified. Am a physician of eight years practice; was present at the time the examination was made and assisted Dr Kinney [illegible]

OFFICER CORCORAN

Was recalled and testified. Did not observe that Mr Schoppe had any weapons on his person at the time he was shot; the light was shining very brightly in the Cozy at the time. I saw Schoppe only about seven minutes before the occurrence. Oak street was the dividing line between my beat and his. I saw him on the opposite side of Oak street; when I came near I saw the woman Annie Miles standing at the corner in a very excited manner and conversing with several men; defendant was lying when I went in on his right side with his right cheek on the floor.

Here the court adjourned until 9 o clock this morning.

THE WRECKED PRINCE ALFRED

The following particulars concerning the loss of the steamship Prince Alfred were received by telegraph at Victoria and published in the Colonist.

The Prince Alfred was a very staunch iron steamship built in England about twenty years ago for the Australian inter colonial trade. Afterwards in 1863, she was placed on the route between Panama and San Francisco and after the collapse of that line was brought to San Francisco where she was sold to Rosenfeld & Birmingham who have the contract for carrying the mail between Victoria and San Francisco. She was placed in entire repair and put on the route and has continued to ply in the service with the exception of the two months quarantining which she got two years ago. About fifteen months ago her cabins were entirely reconstructed and her steam making facilities increased at a cost of $20 000. Her total value was somewhere about $80,000, on which there was an insurance. She was commanded by Captain Sholl—one of the most successful and careful navigators on the coast, and in her first and second officers had able men. The disaster is attributable to a dense fog which hung like a pall about the steamship and caused her destruction. She was nearly four days out at the time of the wreck having left Victoria harbor at 11 o clock on the night of June 10th.

Duxbury Reef, on which the ship first struck lies seven miles north of the entrance of San Francisco. It is a dangerous locality, several steamships having been lost there. The Labouchere was lost not far north of the resting place of the Prince Alfred. Potato Cove into which the ship was run, where she sank and where she will doubtlessly lay her bones lies one mile south of the reef. The Prince Alfred is the first steamship that has been lost on the downward trip. The mails treasure and part of the baggage were saved.

HER CARGO

Consisted of 94 tons of furs hides, wool, deer skins, charcoal and some small packages of merchandise.

The losses may be summed up as follows:
Hudson Bay Co $90 000 in furs; insured.
Bosewitz Bros $3 500 in furs; insured.
W Dalby & Co $2,000 in hides and wool, uninsured.
George Keaves $200; insured.

THE TREASURE

Wells Fargo & Co had $20 333 in gold on board, shipped by the following parties: Bank British North America $13,581; Bank British Columbia $5,603; F Gareschc, $6 439. The treasure was saved with the express and mails.

THE BAGGAGE

Private telegrams state that there was good order amongst the passengers and that part of the baggage was saved.

"FOR THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE"

See Deuteronomy Chap xii Verse 23. The blood being the source from which our systems are built up and from which we derive our mental as well as physical capabilities, how important that it should be kept pure. If it contains vile festering poisons all organic functions are weakened thereby. Settling upon important organs as the lungs liver or kidneys the effect is most disastrous. Hence it behoves every one to keep their blood in a perfectly healthy condition and more especially does this apply at this particular season of the year than at any other. No matter what the exciting cause may be the real cause of a large proportion of all diseases is bad blood. Now Dr Pierce does not wish to place his Golden Medical Discovery in the catalogue of quack patent nostrums by recommending it to cure every disease nor does he so recommend it on the contrary there are hundreds of diseases that he acknowledges it will not cure; but what he does claim is this that there is but one form of blood disease that it will not cure and that disease is cancer. He does not recommend his Discovery for that disease yet he knows it to be the most searching blood cleanser yet discovered and that it will free the blood and system of all other known blood poisons, be they animal vegetable or mineral. The Golden Discovery is warranted by him to cure the worst forms of Skin Diseases as all forms of Blotches Pimples and Eruptions also all Glandular Swellings and the worst form of Scrofulous and Ulcerated Sores of Neck, Legs or other parts and all Scrofulous Diseases of the Bones, as White Swellings Fever Sores Hip Joint and Spinal Diseases all of which belong to Scrofulous diseases.

CONFIRMED—HIP JOINT DISEASE CURED

Dear Sir—My wife became lame nine years ago. Swellings would appear and disappear on her hip and she was gradually becoming reduced, and her whole system rotten with disease. In 1871 a swelling broke on her hip discharging large quantities, and since that time there are several openings. Have had five doctors at an expense of $125 who say nothing will do any good but a surgical operation.

July 16th 1873 he writes thus: My wife has certainly received a great benefit from the use of your Discovery for she was not able to get off the bed and was not expected to live a week when she commenced using it a year ago. She has been doing most of her work for over six months. Has used twenty bottles and still using it. Her recovery is considered as almost a miracle and we attribute it all to the use of your valuable medicine. I can cheerfully recommend it as a blood purifier and strength restorer.
J M ROBINSON

A Young Canadian, Alexis St. Martin, received a gunshot wound in the left side from which resulted a permanent opening into the stomach affording an admirable and the only opportunity ever known for examining the whole process of digestion. Dr Beaumont of the U S A kept the man with him and made accurate examinations for the benefit of science. He proved by them the perfect identity of digestion with chemical solution. PLANTATION BITTERS produce a chemical solution of the food eaten and thereby restore digestive health.

The World's Solace.—This term may be properly applied to the MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT. For the cure of rheumatism gout neuralgia, the dolourous humors mumps sore throat, ear and toothaches, bruises burns, caked breasts, chapped nipples, wounds, sprains and all kindred disease it stands unrivalled. As there is but one flesh among the billion of Earth's inhabitants subject to the same sanitary laws so this Mustang Liniment in its capacity for relief and cure deserves the title of the World's Solace. For nearly thirty years it has shown its value in the restoration to health and the peace it has conferred upon the multitudes who use it.

Whatever changes are wrought by fashion in the style of dress, nothing can compensate for the want of a clear, bright complexion in woman. Beauty in the sterner sex is of small account but in the female it is a never failing source of power. The habits of American life lead to premature decay of beauty; late hours and suppers undermine the health and if not restored a faded look takes the place of facial beauty which might be preserved for years if the health restoring MAGNOLIA BALM of Prof Hagan had been regularly used.

Proscribed Hair!—The fathers of the Saxon church rolled forth their thunders against the fashion of wearing long hair. A Prelate, Serlo preached a sermon before Henry the 1st who was then in [illegible] to Normandy against what he considered the reigning vice. The King and his courtiers were moved to tears. When he saw the impression he had made he cunningly produced a pair of scissors and clipped the whole congregation. But the hair of the people was still worn as long as ever. The love of hair seems innate and to this may be attributed the immense popularity of LYON'S KATHAIRON, which beautifies, preserves and perpetuates it.

Why go about your business half alive, tormented with indigestion, weak, desponent and spiritless, when a course of DR. TUTT'S SCHIEDAM AROMATIC SCHNAPPS would vitalize, build up and make a new man of you?

A CRUSADED MAN'S COMPLAINT

[From the Cincinnati Commercial]

Now (said a man to a reporter of the Commercial yesterday) I am a temperance man but I am opposed to this crusade and I will tell you why.

It has destroyed the peace of my family. As I have said I am a temperance man myself. I haven't touched a drop of whisky, beer, ale or wine for I don't know when. These things don't agree with my stomach and I couldn't drink them if I wanted to.

We were getting along very well in our family. I think we were happy—at least the neighbors said we ought to be. But when this movement commenced my wife got it into her head that she must crusade. I think my mother in law put her up to it. My wife said the Lord called her to this work. I tried to persuade her out of the notion. I said we couldn't afford to hire another girl and that she had better stay at home and help rear up our family. But she insisted that the Lord must be obeyed, and of course I had to cave in. Well, she went out and has been in the business for the past three months. I never thought a woman could stand as much as that wife of mine has gone through. She told me last night in the past three months she had made 110 speeches, 97 prayers and walked on an estimate 480 miles. When she gets home at night from the war she is completely tagged out, and doesn't feel like herself until she has taken six or eight cups of strong tea.

Our gentle household had been completely revolutionized. We can't keep even one girl now. My wife drives them off as fast as I hire them. The consequence is I haven't had a square meal at our house for the last quarter of a year and the children are dying from neglect. The fact is I can't myself because of my not having been raised to it feed and clothe these children properly. I have done the best I could, but somehow a man can't get up good domestic meals and wash and iron clothes and put them on children so as to look neat. But my wife says I can learn younger it is my duty. She has been called to this blessed work, and has enlisted for life or during the war. I wish to the Lord this cruel war was over. Why don't these saloon keepers quit, if for no other purpose than that of stopping the misery in the homes of the crusaders.

My wife carries on the crusade at home—to keep herself in practice I suppose. She gives me a long temperance lecture every night. I say I don't drink. But she says, grant that I do drink, just for the sake of argument. When she finishes her speech she brings out the pledge and makes me sign it. If I have signed that blasted old pledge once, I have a hundred times. Then she makes me pretend that I am in the saloon business. We get out the wash stand and set the camphor bottle and vinegar jug on it, and I stand behind it in my shirt sleeves like a saloon keeper. On the counter are some scraps of stuff on a plate to represent a free lunch. I stand there handing out the vile camphor and vinegar that are carrying sorrow to so many homes, when my wife comes up and sings in front of my saloon. She beseeches me to quit my awful calling and go to canvassing for subscription books or some other respectable business. I get mad and call for the police and order my wife out of the house. But she keeps on and at last my heart is touched. I pour the camphor out into the cream pitcher and the vinegar into the washbasin so as not to waste them and say I will never engage in the business again. I sign the pledge a few times and put up my traps at auction.

Sometimes we have another play, which my fanatical wife has arranged for me. I go and drink a glass of cold tea, imagine it to be beer, I become very drunk and go home and kick up a terrible row. I smash the furniture and beat my poor starving family. Maddened with that glass of beer I rob, steal, murder and do all sorts of horrible things. Just about this time my wife happens around as a crusader and hands me a little tract. I glance at it carelessly through my bleered eyes, and, lo! I am instantly a changed man. I take the pledge, wash myself up and in a very short time I am a rich man surrounded by a large flourishing and happy family. All of this tomfoolery, my wife says, will have a good influence on the children.

Now, that will give you a sort of an idea of how things have been going on at our house. I don't enjoy it. It seems pretty hard that a man who has lived to my age and tried to do right should have to suffer in this way. This seems all right to my wife but blamed if I can see it. She says that if a man goes and drinks a glass of beer and gets drunk he cannot enter the Kingdom of Heaven. Well, then, I say, let him stay out. Because he should make a fool of himself is no reason why our innocent family should agonize about it. She also says, cursed be he who putteth the cup to his neighbor's lips. I say certainly, but let these saloon keepers look out for themselves. So far as I know these cups are put to mighty willing lips. To hear my wife talk you might suppose that the saloon keepers rushed out of their dens like spiders and nabbed innocent young men by their collars as they were walking by on the street, hauled them into their dens, choked them down on the floor and poured whisky down their throats and ruined them.

I think my heart is in the cause of temperance but I know I would be a better Christian if I got better meals and if things went on all right at home.

SHAKING HANDS OVER THE BLOODY CHASM

The event of chief importance at the session at St Louis of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church is the healing of the breach between the Synod of Missouri and the General Assembly. It was at Pittsburg in 1865 that the Old School General Assembly made a war deliverance which the Missouri Synod protested against. Next year, the General Assembly protested against the protest, condemning it as slanderous, schismatical and rebellious.

The result of the quarrel was the separation of the recalcitrant branch from the angry tree. But with time the sectional passions which gave rise to the controversy cooled off and on Thursday last the old school Synod of Missouri, made an overture for restoration to the fold. Here is a newspaper report of the substance of the overture:

Dr Howard Crosby read to the General Assembly the overture from the semi repentant Synod. The preamble was full of gracious, manly, and winning words. The gist of the "principles" or platform by the adoption of which the chasm might be bridged was: The plenary inspiration of the Scriptures; God alone as Lord of the universe; Jesus Christ as head of the Church (let alone the Westminster assembly of divines); all ecclesiastical power is only 'ministerial and declarative,' that the Church as such ought utterly to eschew politics and that if the Presbyterian Church of America had ever done anything contrary to these principles, it is to be henceforth null and void!

This overture was instantly accepted by the Assembly with loud and long continued applause. Impassioned speeches followed from Judge Drake now of Washington, formerly Senator from Missouri, Dr Nelson of Cincinnati, and Dr Brookes of St Louis. An interesting incident of the scene was the reconciliation of the Missouri ex Senator with Dr Brookes.

Another had spoken, said Dr Brookes, referring to Judge Drake, to whom he had said he hoped never to meet again till at the bar of God. If that brother was near enough he would like to clasp his hand. At this point Judge Drake called out "Here I am" and leaped impetuously over the desks of the reporters, mounted the platform, and grasped the hand of Dr Brookes with quivering lips, at which spectacle the whole house broke out into thunders of applause and dissolved in tears.

This closes another of the chasms made by the rebellion and the animosities which occasioned it and grew out of it. The event is significant of the gradual disappearance of the old sectional hatreds with the r[illegible] and of the coming of a time when the American people shall know no North no South, no East and no West.—St Paul Press.

AN ENGLISH OPINION.—The London Standard in referring to the report that the Committee of Ways and Means at Washington favored a resolution censuring the Secretary of the Treasury, the Assistant Secretary and the Solicitor of the Treasury, said: "As proof of the extent to which corruption prevails even in the very highest offices of the Government the resolution will by few perhaps be thought to be necessary. But as a symptom of the waning authority of the President and of the rapid disintegration of the Republican party under the influence of this corruption it is not [illegible]

There is [illegible] in monetary circles. While the supply of capital appears to be ample here there is but little disposition to speculate or [illegible] outside the accustomed [illegible] of the trade. An abundance of money and consequent low rates of interest usually have a tendency to promote speculation and as often bring about disaster and financial ruin. At present however this spirit seems quite [illegible] and we trace [illegible] growing [illegible] of [illegible] which we [illegible] began to recover from the effects of last fall's panic at the East [illegible] of the nation had in that storm [illegible] which many years would [illegible] to forget that greater prudence was necessary to the permanence and prosperity of our financial institutions. Ever since that lesson was forced upon the business public our capitalists and moneyed establishments have been running on a different and more certain principle. Objects seeking countenance and support have been more closely scrutinized and a more positive determination [illegible] well every chance against [illegible] as well as those in their favor. This policy while it [illegible] one of the greatest degree of safety is perhaps just now a producing cause of some of the dullness prevailing on the Pacific coast. The spirit of speculation which was once so rampant here and which often resulted well has given way to a cooler more calculating and surer business policy and while those who pursue the latter will in the long run be able to reap the better and more lasting reward. The time when a man can make a fortune in a day on this coast has passed away but the opportunities for gradual accumulation are as plentiful as ever. Our people must turn from the old to the new way.

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—The receipts here at present are very light and the market exceedingly quiet. The transactions of the past week do not aggregate more than a few hundred bushels mostly purchased on account of some of our State mills to fill orders. A few tons are also going on the coasters in part for the San Francisco market under prior contract. So it is difficult to give quotations where so little is being done. The current rates however are still reported at $1 60@1 65 per cental. Much more interest is manifested in the circumstances which indicate prices to rule for the incoming crop. The probabilities now are that the new crop will not open here at more than $1 60.

FLOUR—The supply is yet fair for the local trade and a few shipments are being made. Business in this commodity is quiet, holders refusing to reduce rates below $5 25 for best and $4 75@5 per bbl for common. The receipts are falling off, and trade stands in waiting for the new wheat crop. Until that comes in but little change is anticipated.

OATS—Owing to the late rains or busy circumstances or something not explainable by [illegible] the receipts continue limited notwithstanding the general idea that quite a large surplus above the amount required for home consumption is held in the interior. The present price 40 cents per bushel is likely to be very much reduced when the new crop is put upon the market. This year's yield will be very much larger in proportion to the acreage than last from all accounts.

BARLEY—The amount changing hands here is small. We quote good English No 1 for brewing at $1 50 ₩ cwt and fair lots for feed at $1 4[illegible] 1 15. The new crop is said to cover a larger acreage than usual and to promise exceedingly well.

FEED—The season is so far advanced that but little animation exists in this line of trade. The supply here is limited. We quote at $20@21 ₩ ton for bran, $20@25 for chopped middlings etc. and $17@20 for shorts.

HAY—Receipts are small but supply the local trade fairly. We quote good baled timothy at $14@14 ₩ ton; loose do $12@13.

POTATOES—A few lots of the new crop have been received which sold at 2@3 cts ₩ lb. Old are still in the market at 50@60 cts ₩ bushel. The yield of this season in our State will assuredly be large.

ONIONS—The receipts are very light and but few transactions are noted. Under the scarcity prices have advanced 1 to 3@4 cts ₩ lb.

DRIED FRUIT—Trade is quiet [illegible] in sacks quotable at [illegible] cts ₩ lb; in kegs [illegible] cents.

APPLES—Very few and mostly inferior lots are now offering. Nominally quotable at 75c@$1 ₩ box.

BACON—Market well supplied and quotations weak at 9 cts ₩ lb for shoulders, 10@11 cts for sides and 11@16 cts for hams.

LARD—We quote good fresh Oregon in kegs and and tins at 13@14 cts ₩ lb.

EGGS—The market is in better supply at lower rates than were given last week. The local trade is supplied at 16@18 cts ₩ dozen, the former being about all shipments will bear.

BUTTER—Receipts have slightly decreased and choice roll is firm at 20@22 cts ₩ lb. Common lots are plentiful at prices ranging from 15 to 18cts with an improved demand.

CHICKENS—Spring chickens of small size are coming to hand freely and selling at $3@3 25. Grown hens, fat, are worth $4 50 ₩ dozen—mixed lots $3 50@4.

FRESH MEATS—Some fine bands of fat cattle have arrived in the market the past week and such find ready sale at 6c ₩ lb, while inferior lots and scrubs are 1@1½c lower. Mutton sheep are plentiful and sales less brisk at $2 50@3 ₩ head. Dressed hogs nominally quotable at 7@7½c ₩ lb.

HIDES—The trade is active and buyers are paying current rates freely. We quote choice dry at 15@16c ₩ lb, green-salted, 7@7½c, green 6@6½. Culls one-third off.

WOOLS—The competition here as well as elsewhere on the coast existing a week or ten days ago has partially subsided and prices are rather inclined downwards. The aggregate receipts of the week have been quite large, embracing all varieties and changing hands at rates ranging from [illegible]c for inferior to [illegible]@29 for extra fine clean lots well sorted and neatly packed.

RIPE FRUITS—We would quote strawberries and cherries at this season, as they are both in the markets in abundance, but prices which can be realized depend greatly on the quality and on the circumstances. The approximate rates are 8@10c ₩ lb for strawberries and 6@8c for cherries.

Eastern Wool Markets

[BY TELEGRAPH]

BOSTON, June 1[illegible].—No change in the wool market. Prices are firm and continue to be well sustained. Manufacturers are purchasing quite freely from all lots offering. In the country there is considerable excitement and for some weeks to come better bargains will be made in eastern markets than in the interior. In Ohio, Pennsylvania and Virginia prices range from 45 to 50c; in Michigan 40 to 46c, and in the Western States the price has hardly opened yet. In Maine the prices range from 40 to 45c and in Vermont and New Hampshire there is very little doing. The receipts have been principally from California and supplies of this description are beginning to accumulate. California wool ranges from 20 to 40c for ordinary and choice lots of spring clip.

Shipping Intelligence.

The bark Architect and brig Leepetoun will take 600,000 feet of lumber from Knappton to San Francisco this week.

The cargo of the bark Ceylon which went to sea bound for Liverpool June 11th consisting of 10 41[illegible] centals wheat and 1,588 barrels flour. Total value $42,1[illegible]0.

The schooner Dreadnought for San Francisco crossed the bar out and bound June 17th with 184 tons of produce and 120,000 feet of lumber.
